

Real Estate Remains A Strong Investment in the Empire State

Whether you're just starting out, have outgrown your current home or it's time to downsize, finding the right home can make all the difference. Homeownership is a piece of the American Dream - it provides comfort, stability, and with the right choices, a great investment. And, today's market offers great opportunities - mortgage rates are at near 40-year lows and great homes are available at all price levels.

- Affordability continues to be at historically attractive levels.
- Homeownership remains a good long-term investment, and has in fact, been ranked the best performing investment over the past 40 years.
- Mortgage rates are at near 40-year lows.
- Statewide median sales prices remain stable.
- Sellers (especially those who have been in their homes longer) are still benefiting from price appreciation.
- REALTORS® are a valued partner in helping you find a new home or sell your existing one.

Contact me today to see how I can help you "Feel at Home in NY."

There are great opportunities available to both buyers and sellers. Remember, every neighborhood in the Empire State is different. Real estate conditions vary from city to city, and sometimes even block to block.

